Within G.L.O.W., Anthony is committed to helping create opportunities for girls to grow academically while developing the confidence, character, critical-thinking skills, and leadership abilities necessary to succeed. His mathematics background provides an important complement to G.L.O.W.'s literacy foundation, supporting the organization's broader vision of exposing girls to enrichment experiences that encourage curiosity, problem-solving, and academic achievement across disciplines.

His experience as a school administrator will also help G.L.O.W. strengthen relationships with educators, schools, families, and community organizations while ensuring that programs remain responsive to the needs of students. As a pastor and community servant, Anthony brings an additional perspective centered on mentorship, character development, compassion, and service to others.

Beyond his professional, ministerial, and civic accomplishments, Anthony considers one of his greatest blessings to be his role as the proud father of his son, Mikah Anthony Kimble.

Through his service on the G.L.O.W. Board of Directors, Anthony looks forward to helping cultivate an environment where girls are encouraged to discover their gifts, excel academically, embrace leadership, and understand the importance of using their talents to positively impact others. His commitment to education, faith, mentorship, and community service reflects G.L.O.W.'s belief that when young people are provided with knowledge, encouragement, and opportunity, they can truly learn, overcome, and win.
